EPHESIANS 6:12 . . . For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of the world. . .

And what could be a more deceptive title than that of the so-called Great White Brotherhood. In this series of reports, we shall produce evidence that the Great White Brotherhood is composed of malevolently, malignant entities, possessing such heinous designs upon humanity, that the mind will stagger when full comprehension is attained.

While these evil beings compose the inner ring of the Great White Brotherhood, the outer ring has been comprised down through the centuries of such groups as Gnostics, Druids, Manicheans, Albigenses, Knights Templar, Rosicrucians, Freemasons, Illuminati, Knights of Malta, and the Order of Zion.

2 CORINTHIANS . . . And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. . .

In producing our evidence, we shall draw upon the books of Kenneth Grant. Who is Kenneth Grant? He is the head of the O.T.O. (Ordo Templi Orientis, i.e. the Order of the Temple of the East). Mr. Grant became the head of the O.T.O. in 1947, shortly after the death of the Great Beast 666, a.k.a. Aleister Crowley.

Today, the O.T.O. is structured in eleven degrees. Its purpose is to establish and maintain contact with entities who are not only extra-terrestrial, but extra-dimensional as well. These denizens of other dimensions are the partial answer to the UFO phenomenon. But, before we go any further, let us take a look at the history of the O.T.O., and related secret societies.

O.T.O. AND KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

In 1895, a high-ranking Freemason named Karl Kellner met with two Indian yogis and with an Arab. From these three, Kellner deduced that the real secret of magic and of Freemasonry was sex. He then set out to expound the doctrine of sexual magic as a means of releasing energy, so as to establish rapport with higher intelligence.

By 1902, Kellner together with Theodore Reuss, a Mason of the English Grand Lodge, succeeded in merging currents of Leopold Engel's revived Illuminati with the Hermetic Brotherhood of Light. The latter secret order boasted of having had in its membership such luminaries as Madame Blavatsky and Albert Pike. Pike, until his death in 1891, had been the Sovereign Pontiff of Universal Freemasonry, as well as a master of the Cabala (Kabbalah, Qabbalah). The Cabala is the esoteric doctrine of Judaism. It is concerned with sorcery and black magic.

The newly formed O.T.O. (originally constituted in nine degrees) claimed to communicate the mysteries of Freemasonry, the Knights of Malta, the Hidden Church of the Holy Graal, the Martinist Order, and others. But, its main claim to fame was when Kellner stated that the O.T.O. had direct continuity with the Knights Templar, and with Adam Weishaupt's Order of the Illuminati. These two secret societies are well known to all students of subversive and revolutionary movements.

The Templars were founded in Jerusalem in the year 1118. Their ostensible purpose was to defend the Christian faith. Although the Order practiced Christianity on the outside, they had a secret doctrine which was Cabalistic and Gnostic for the inner elite. Concerning Gnosticism, Rabbi Ludwig Blau stated: "Gnosticism is an esoteric system of Theology and Philosophy . . . neither pure philosophy, nor pure religion, but a combination of the two with MAGIC, the latter being the dominant element, as it was in the beginning of all religion and philosophy. Many Gnostic elements . . . have doubtless been preserved in the Kabbalah, together with magic and mysticism (emphasis added)."

In her 1924 book, "Secret Societies and Subversive

Movements," Nesta Webster adds: "The result of Gnosticism was . . . to cabalize Christianity by mingling its pure and simple teaching with theosophy and even magic." It is believed that the Templars picked up their Gnosticism in the East after coming into contact with the Order of Assassins, who were working for the destruction of Islam.

According to Eliphas Levi, when the Templars returned to Europe, they threatened the world "with a gigantic revolution." They plotted to unite the nations of Europe, and place them all under control of an Imperial Messiah. Eventually, Phillip the Fair and Pope Clement V acted against the Order.

During the trials which followed, it was brought out that the Templars spat upon the cross of Christ, gave their Grand Master the "obscene kiss," performed human sacrifice (drinking the blood of the victim), worshipped the androgynous Baphomet idol, and performed acts of homosexuality. Templars in different countries told the same story — in most cases without the application of torture.

The verdict was that the Templars were guilty. Their members, including Grand Master Jacques de Molay were executed in 1313. However, before his execution — and acting from his prison cell — de Molay formed four occult lodges. After his death, these lodges amalgamated and became known as the Rosicrucians. According to the Illuminist Mirabeau, the Rosicrucians were merely the Templars perpetuated in secret.

Some Templars managed to escape the suppression and were able to make their way to Scotland. There, they became the backbone of what was eventually to be Scottish Rite Masonry, York Rite Masonry, and English Druidism. (Two prominent Druids of latter years were Benjamin Disraeli and Winston Churchill. Both were also members of the Order of the Garter — a network of Witchcraft covens which permeate the British Empire.) Other Templars entered into the ranks of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem. In 1802, the Italian contingent of the Knights of St. John formed itself into the Knights of Malta.

Prior to the Templar suppression, the Jews had been evicted from France. This has led many to believe that the Templars and Jews were working together. It is now known that there was a secret governing body within the Templars called the Priory of Zion. Today, this group resides within the Knights of Malta where it is called the Order of Zion. To become a member of the Maltese Order, one must first become a Templar. It is also claimed that to become a high Jesuit, one must first become a Templar. Thus there is a Templar-Maltese-Jesuit-Zionist connection.

As we have seen, Gnosticism is concerned with magic. Was the magic of the Templars connected with the charge of homosexuality? According to Kellner, the answer would have to be yes. What this means is that in addition to their revolutionary activities, the Templars also practiced sexual magic. We must keep in mind that the rites of sexual magic are conducted for the purpose of creating altered states of consciousness, so as to better facilitate communication with extra-terrestrial intelligence.

Many readers may be confused by the statements made by Kellner which suggested that the O.T.O. had continuity with the medieval Templars. As many realize, the Templars still exist within Freemasonry. Those who take the highest degree of the York Rite are said to become Templars. In the Scottish Rite, which is the dominant rite, the 30th degree is called Knight Kadosh. In this rite, the Mason is instructed that the purpose of the Order is to avenge the death of Jacques de Molay. Thus it is possible that both the York and Scottish Rites have doorways which lead into Templarism. Then why would Kellner have to reconstitute the Order if it already existed firmly tucked away in the bosom of Freemasonry?

Perhaps, the Templars within Masonry would act solely as a political arm. Although this would not exclude the practice of Cabalistic rituals, its main purpose would be to work in the political arena for the goal of establishing a one-world government. On the other hand, the O.T.O. would devote itself exclusively to Magic. This Magic would result in the necessary contact with extra-terrestrial intelligence, which in turn would elevate Mankind into a new evolutionary stage. In other words, the O.T.O. believes that these entities (call them demons or extra-terrestrials or whatever) are going to provide the knowledge and guidance that will allow Mankind to collectively leap into a state of godhood. This is the same lie told to Eve in the Garden of Eden. But, for this collective leap into godhood to take place, a one-world government would first have to be set in motion. While as Christians we do not believe in any "evolutionary leap", we must remember that the occultists do — and that they will diligently work to create a one-world government for that reason!

Not the reader may wonder if the O.T.O. of today engages in any of the perverted rites of the ancient Templars. It is certain that they perform the rites of sexual magic (homo and heterosexual). However, in the Summer 1981 issue of Fortean Times, Michael Hoffman offers us some chilling observations. Hoffman points out that many of the murders performed by the Hillside Strangler were committed on sites which are considered sacred by the California branch of the O.T.O. A release of energy is required when contact is to be made with a demon (or with an extra-terrestrial being). This energy release can be accomplished via the sexual act or by a ritualistic murder. The monstrous entities who comprise the Great White Brotherhood, thrive on the human life-force!

THE ILLUMINATI

The other secret society, which according to Kellner had a link with the O.T.O. was the Illuminati. Founded on May 1, 1776 by the Jesuit trained Adam Weishaupt, the Illuminati has in recent years become rather well known. According to some, Weishaupt was a victim of Jesuit mind-control, and created the Illuminati at their bidding. Others have found a tie with the House of Rothchild, and with Cabalistic Jews

That there is a definite link between the Templars and the Illuminati, can be seen from the following quote concerning the initiation of Count Cagliostro into the Illuminist Order. In 1848, Louis Blanc wrote: "His initiation (i.e. Cagliostro) took place a short distance from Frankfort in a subterranean vault . . . (he was shown) a manuscript book in the first page of which could be read: We Grand Masters of the Templars; followed by an oath traced in blood. The book maintained that Illuminism was a conspiracy plotted against the thrones, that the first blow would fall on France; that after the fall of the French Monarchy they would attack Rome. Cagliostro learnt from his initiators that the secret society to which he henceforth belonged possessed a mass of money scattered in the banks of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, London, Genoa, and Venice." This inordinate money supply would certainly suggest Rothschild involvement.

In forming the Illuminati, Weishaupt maintained that he was going to destroy the effects of Christianity. Concerning the Vatican, he wrote: "We will infiltrate into that place and once inside we will never come out. We will bore from within untill it remains nothing but an empty shell." Weishaupt hated Christianity because its individualist outlook was opposed to his pantheistic-collectivism.

Pantheism is the belief that the Universe taken as a whole constitutes Deity. Every secret society and occult group has pantheism or its extension "dualism" as a prime belief. Although pantheism (the belief in a unity-force) and dualism (the belief in two opposing forces) appear to be contradictory, their congeniality is best expressed by Spinoza who said: "...the universe contains and expresses a creative force which appears as a duality but is in fact a unity." Pantheism is the main-spring behind the movement to form a one-world government.

Their logic (i.e. the logic of the world government planners) is that since the Universe is a unity, we should not oppose world government because such a government would represent in microcosm what the Universe represents as a macrocosm. It is what we saw earlier - Man must become like God!

The symbol of Man (the microcosm) is the five-pointed star. The symbol of the Universe (macrocosm i.e. the pantheistic god) is the six-pointed star. Take out a one dollar bill and look at the reverse side. On the right, you will find an eagle. Look above the eagle and you will see thirteen five-pointed stars arranged in a pattern which forms a six-pointed star. Meaning: the attainment of godhood by Mankind. In 1981 famed Israeli sculptor Yakov Agam presented President Reagan with one of his works - a five-pointed star molded together with a six-pointed star.

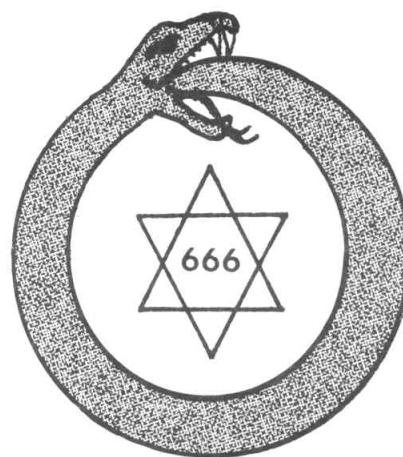

The relationship of the above to the Cabala should be readily apparent. The Cabala is entirely pantheistic. Concerning the relationship of the secret societies to the Cabala, the Jewish writer Bernard Lazare in his book "Anti-Semitism" writes: "Secret societies represented the two sides of the Jewish mind, practical rationalism and pantheism, that pantheism which, metaphysical reflection of the belief in One God, ended at times in cabalistic theurgy."

Before getting back to the Illuminati, we should mention again, and expand upon what we said earlier concerning the O.T.O. and our collective evolutionary leap. They believe that other races inhabiting other planets in the Universe have already made this mutational jump - and in doing so have become supernovae, pulsars, quasars, and even black holes. The other races have joined what is known as the Brotherhood of the Comity of Stars. The ancient mystery religions also believed this, which is one reason that they worshipped planetary bodies as living beings. Since to pantheists the Universe is God, to become God one must become part of the Universe. As the O.T.O. says: "Every man and every woman is a star." If portions of the above sounds familiar to you, it may be that you have read Arthur C. Clarke's science fiction novel, "Childhood's End," wherein Mankind's ultimate destiny was depicted in a fashion similar to the above presentation.

Now, let us return to the Illuminati and see if we can produce any evidence which would indicate that they practiced magic for the purpose of attaining godhood. Well, Aleister Crowley said that Weishaupt was an "adept." But, our main proof lies in the meaning of the word "Illuminism" itself.

Illuminism is a natural consequence of pantheism, which as we have noted concerns the magical Cabala. Pantheists believe that the Universe is composed of a divine essence (also called universal ether). This essence would be less abundant in a stone than in a plant; less abundant in a plant than in an animal; less abundant in an animal than in a man. Cabalists believe that through incantations, meditations, astrology, socery, and sexual acts that the divine essence of which the Universe is composed can be united to the essence within Man. When this union occurs, it is said that Illuminism has been attained. The symbol of the attainment of Illuminism is the serpent with its tail in its mouth. Another symbol is that of the inter-laced triangles which form the six-pointed star. The number of Illuminism is 666. Three is the number of God. Six is the number of man. Three sixes is representative of Man becoming God. Thus, the term Illuminism, the six-pointed star, and the number 666, all have the same meaning.

As most students of the Illuminati know, the sect was responsible for the French Revolution of 1789. Weishaupt's agents were successful in Illuminizing the French Masonic Lodges, which were already taking a revolutionary twist under the rule of the Duke of Orleans. After the Congress of Wilhelmsbad in 1782, the Illuminati succeeded in taking control of all secret societies and occult organizations. (We should mention that this congress was called for the purpose of uniting the secret societies.)

Turning Freemasonry into an entirely Cabalistic network was a job which took several centuries. As previously noted, the first intrusion took place after the suppression of the Templars. After arriving in Scotland, the Templars penetrated the guilds of working stone masons. In the ensuing centuries Cabalistic symbols appeared in the lodges; but these lodges still functioned on an Operative level. It wasn't until 1717 that the Rosicrucians led by Anderson and Desaguliers turned the lodges from Operative Masonry to Speculative Masonry. This merely meant that you no longer had to become a stone mason to belong to the lodge. When the lodges no longer centered on discussions of architecture alone, it was simple for the Rosicrucians to bring in occultism and other revolutionary concepts. The final infusion of Cabalism took place when the Illuminati took over the lodges. Operating from within Freemasonry, the Illuminati plotted the downfall of France.

In 1792, the Reign of Terror began. In 1793, Louis XVI was executed. In his book "History of Magic," Eliphas Levi tells of an elderly Jew dipping his hands into the blood of the executed monarch, and saying to the crowd: "I baptize you in the name of Liberty and Jacques." The reference was to Jacques de Molay, head of the Templars at the time of the suppression. It had taken over 450 years, but the Templars had gained their revenge upon the French government.

The Illuminati had hoped that the French Revolution would ignite a universal cataclysm which would sweep away the old order. Upon the charred remains of civilization, Weishaupt (and the cabal who used him) planned to build a "new world order." In spite of all this, they did not achieve their goal – even though they were the instigators of the Terror, and of the Napoleonic Wars which followed.

The inner circle of the Illuminati then penetrated an Italian Lodge called the Carbonari. The Carbonari had originally started out as Catholic and Royalist. Under the influence of the Illuminati, its chief lodge, the Alta Vendita (also known as the Haute Vente Romaine) – became the governing power of all secret societies. The Carbonari were responsible for the simultaneous European revolutions of 1848. The American branch was known as the Knights of the Golden Circle – and it was the secret power behind the Civil War as well as the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. John Wilkes Booth was a member of the Carbonari and of the Golden Circle. In his book "The Blood Cults," Charles Lefebure notes that the rites of the Carbonari included human sacrifice.

In 1880, Leopold Engel revived the Order under the name of the Illuminati. It was Karl Kellner who then returned to the older designation or Templarism. Having looked at the history of the two Orders, with which the O.T.O. is said to have continuity, let us now look at another related secret society.

THE GOLDEN DAWN

To understand the Golden Dawn, we must first look at the secret society known as the Societas Rosicruciana in Anglia (the Rosicrucian Society in England). The Soc. Ros. was founded in 1865-66 by Robert Wentworth Little, a member of the English Grand Lodge of Freemasonry. (This Lodge has been the Mother Lodge of Masonry since the Rosicrucian impregnation of 1717.) Membership in the Soc. Ros. was confined to Master Masons, and was to be regulated by an Inner Circle of Adepts.

Writing in 1935, the British writer Arnold J. Lee said: "The practices of these occult branches of the Societas Rosicruciana in Anglia are occasionally exposed in the Daily Press in articles on 'Black Magic'; and it is a dangerous error to dismiss them as unimportant, for they number among their adepts prominent politicians and members of our so-called aristocracy. It is, in fact, through them that our political system is controlled."

In 1884, the Rev. A.F.A. Woodford, a member of the Soc. Ros., received papers containing certain manuscripts in cypher. There are two different stories as to how he came into possession of the papers. One states that he inherited them after the death of the mystic named Fred Hockley. The other says that he found them in a used bookstore. In any event, he sent them to Dr. William Wynn Westcott who was Supreme Magus of the Soc. Ros. Westcott was also a member of the Theosophical Society and a personal friend of Madame Blavatsky. Westcott then called in S.L. MacGregor Mathers, who was known for having translated a number of occult works into English.

Mathers called in a third worker, Dr. W.R. Woodman, also a member of the Soc. Ros. The manuscripts informed the trio that they were to contact a high grade Rosicrucian in Germany named Anna Sprengel. After partially deciphering the manuscript, they sent the results to Sprengel. She wrote back and told them that if they could elaborate the notes, they would then be allowed to form a Rosicrucian branch allied to the genuine Order. The trio eventually worked out a system for lodge-ritual, and received a charter for the establishment of a new secret society.

The charter gave the name of the new Order in Hebrew as Cheurah Lereh Sour Bokher, which translated means Society of the Shining Light of the Dawn, or more simply as it came to be known, The Golden Dawn. Westcott said: "The scheme of the Golden Dawn figures in the very ancient Qabalah of the Hebrews." The first temple of the Golden Dawn was established in London in 1888, and was known as the Isis-Urania Temple.

Before looking at the Golden Dawn's cabalistic scheme, let us look at a few other theories concerning the origin of the Order. The first is the view of the ex-Grand Druid John Todd. According to Todd, the Golden Dawn is the private Witchcraft Coven of the House of Rothschild – one of the world's dynastic banking empires. While Witchcraft, Satanism, and Ceremonial Magic do have similar features in regards to structure and ritual – each also has its own peculiar components. All records of the Golden Dawn, show the Order as one which practiced Ceremonial Magic. Yes, there are points of similarity between Witchcraft and Ceremonial Magic (and we do realize that witches practice ceremonial magic); but there are also factors which do not relate at all. What we must state is that all three occultic forms of worship just mentioned, are all extensions of the Great White Brotherhood – and we shall meet the Brotherhood, face to face in our next issue.

The second view is that of the newspaper New Solidarity, put out by Lyndon LaRouche. According to this view, the Golden Dawn developed out of the Quatuor Coronati. The QC was the first research lodge established by Freemasonry. It was founded by Sir Charles Warren who was District Grand Master in Masonry from 1891 to 1895. Warren gained further fame as the police chief who failed to capture Jack the Ripper (that there was method to Warren's madness, we hope to discuss in the future). The QC still exists. It is headquartered in London and is firmly intertwined with the activities of British Intelligence. The Golden Dawn initiation is very similar to the Masonic initiation. So there is a tie-in at that point. The view is further strengthened by the fact that Westcott was Worshipful Master of QC. (In fairness to the Todd viewpoint, it must be mentioned that the Witchcraft initiation rites also parallell the Masonic rites.)

O.T.O. Grand Master Kenneth Grant says that the Golden Dawn was the Inner Door which opened into the domain of the Great White Brotherhood. The Outer Door was the Theosophical Society founded by Madame Blavatsky in 1875. The Great White Brotherhood was therefore the secret power for whom Anna Sprengel was working – and it was with their "blessings" that the charter was given to Mathers and Westcott. Since the QC is Masonic, it can be worked into this scenario. The Theosophist Alice Bailey was told by the invisible entity known as the Master D.K., that Masonry received its mysteries from the Great White Brotherhood.

It was believed by conspiracy theorists in the 1920's and 1930's that the Secret Chiefs of the Golden Dawn (a title synonymous with Great White Brotherhood, as we shall demonstrate in our next report) were in actuality an invisible hierarchy of Cabalistic Jews. That such Cabalists were deeply involved, is most certain. But, they were not the Secret Chiefs. Having said that, let us now look at the Golden Dawn's Cabalistic set-up.

The Golden Dawn was composed of ten degrees. Each degree was to correspond to one of the ten Cabalistic sephiroth. As we have already seen the Cabala teaches that there is no personal god, but rather only a divine essence. This divine essence, they refer to as Ain Soph. The Ain Soph issued ten sephiroth (emanations) which fabricated the Universe. The Cabalists arrange these ten sephiroth in a pattern which they refer to as the Tree of Life. It is their guide to the physical structure of the Universe. There is also a network of twenty-two paths connecting the ten sephiroth. The Ain Soph, the ten sephiroth, and the twenty-two paths, add up to a total of thirty-three. It is for this reason that Scottish Rite Masonry is composed of thirty-three degrees.

The first sephiroth is called Kether. The last is known as Malkuth. Since Malkuth is the furthest regression from Ain Soph, it is the least perfect. The Golden Dawn aspirant would therefore start from the bottom of the Tree of Life (Malkuth) and work his way up to the attainment of Diety. Below are listed the ten sephiroth and the equivalent Golden Dawn grade:

TEN SEPHIROTH

1. Kether
2. Chokmah
3. Binah
4. Chesed
5. Geburah
6. Tiphereth
7. Netzach
8. Hod
9. Yesod
10. Malkuth

GOLDEN DAWN GRADE

- Ippissimus (tenth degree)
- Magus
- Magister Templi
- Adeptus Exemptus
- Adeptus Major
- Adeptus Minor
- Philosophus
- Practicus
- Theoricus
- Zelator (first degree)

Before taking the first degree (Zelator), the aspirant would first take the probationer degree of Neophyte, which is not attributed to the Tree of Life. The first four grades were known as the Golden Dawn in the Outer, or as the Golden Dawn Proper. In the first four grades, the aspirant learned divination by the Tarot Cards, and how to develop tattvic vision (observation of the elemental kingdoms).

After completing the first four grades, the aspirant entered what was known as the Portal, where he had to wait (in a figurative sense) for nine months before he could be reborn into the Second Order. This Second Order was called the Order of the Red Rose and the Golden Cross. It was composed of the fifth, sixth and seventh degrees. In this Second, Order, the aspirant started his magical work including full pentagram and hexagram rituals.

Let us now look at its symbols, the red rose and golden cross. We can start by saying that the cross is not a Christian symbol. Although it is true that our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ died on a cross, there is no command in the Bible for Christians to make images of one. As many know, the cross was a symbol used by the ancient Egyptians as a fertility emblem. The two intersecting lines were representative of the union of the male and female. But, there was also a deeper meaning in which the two lines symbolized the crossing into another universe, i.e., another dimension outside of our space-time continuum.

The rose is a symbol of the flowering of humanity. The rose placed on top of the cross (symbol of Rosicrucianism and of the Second Order) means that humanity will make a collective crossing into another universe, which is sometimes designated by occultists as Universe B. As we have already mentioned, the O.T.O. and other occultic groups believe that mankind must attain godhood as a race by an evolutionary leap. What we have not previously mentioned is that this jump must be made into another dimension. This act is known as the Crossing of the Abyss.

The Third Order was composed of the eighth, ninth and tenth degrees. This was the domain of the Secret Chiefs, known as the Argenteum Astrum, i.e. the Order of the Silver Star. Very few have ever entered this Order. MacGregor Mathers never got any higher than the grade of Adeptus Major. To gain entrance into the Order of the Silver Star, one had to perform the most dangerous of all acts of black magic; an act that has often led to insanity and disruption; an act where even a brilliant mind often becomes the mind of an idiot. To enter, one had to cross the abyss. Aleister Crowley claimed to have successfully accomplished this task.

The Crossing of the Abyss encompasses an act of transcendental magic. The aspirant starts the ceremony in the physical body, but concludes the act as a spiritual entity on another plane of existence. As he makes this leap from individual to cosmic consciousness, he learns that to make the crossing, he must pass an amorphous creature known as the Guardian of the Abyss. This is the region that makes men mad. Many who have attempted this crossing have never returned. It is the region of black holes and of non-existence. It is the domain of the Necronomicon!!!

The Necronomicon (Book of Dead Names) is the nexus of all magical grimoires including the Cabala. It is the key to the opening of the Gateways that lead into other dimensions – Gateways, which if opened can allow a non-human force into our Universe. The Necronomicon is familiar to those who have read the frightening fiction of H.P. Lovecraft (1890-1937). Although Lovecraft always said that his stories were only stories, Kenneth Grant and others seem to think that he was only pretending. Even before he was six years old, Lovecraft had dreams wherein he saw strange cities, alien landscapes, horrible monsters, and barbarous ceremonies. This has led some to believe that his ancestors were possibly engaged in abysmal sorceries. In any event, his tales impress one with a feeling of dread that no other writer can match.

Today, many versions of the Necronomicon are appearing in book-stores. Are they the real thing? Kenneth Grant, in his book "Outside the Circles of Time" states: "The Necronomicon does not exist as a book in the mundane work, but it does exist in the dream state and is available to those who are able to penetrate the Veil of the Abyss and break open the seals of the qliphoth (phantoms) which guard it. Crowley incorporated a fragment of it in Liber CCXXI. and Blavatsky before him borrowed many of its concepts and incorporated them in the mysterious Book Of Dzyan which forms the basis of The Secret Doctrine." Grant goes on to say that he believes that all other versions are fakes.

Through Crossing the Abyss, some occultists have acquired the knowledge which has given them the power to gain physical access to other dimensions. Lovecraft gave utterance to this possibility in his tale entitled "Dreams in the Witch House." Lovecraft said that such secrets were handed down through forbidden cults, and usually included complicated pacts with terrible alien beings. One could exist in another dimension and preserve life indefinitely; only ageing during periodic forays made back into this Universe.

One human who appears to have acquired such arcane knowledge is the enigmatic Count de Saint Germain. Prior to the French Revolution, St. Germain appeared and gave a warning to the French Court – and then vanished without a trace before the eyes of a French official. In 1930, he appeared in a solid, visible body upon Mt. Shasta, where he confronted Guy Ballard. Ballard then founded the I Am Cult of the Ascended Masters – one of many movements which claims to represent the Great White Brotherhood.

What has been said about St. Germain, also applies to Master Morya and Koot Hoomi, the two "Mahatmas" with whom Madame Blavatsky was in contact. These two emissaries of ancient evil are in contact today with some of our so-called modern, mystery schools.

Let's continue with our history of the Golden Dawn. In 1891, Westcott received a communication from Germany explaining that Anna Sprengel was dead. He was told that if the Golden Dawn wanted to maintain a link with the Secret Chiefs, that they would now have to do it on their own. By 1892, Mathers claimed to have established the link via astral projection, clairvoyance, and direct voice contact. After Westcott resigned, Mathers became sole head of the Order, and stated that all teachings had to be approved by him, as he was the only link with the Chiefs.

This caused the other members to believe that Mathers was becoming a bit of an autocrat. The actress Florence Farr then formed a secret society within the Golden Dawn called The Sphere. The Sphere attempted to receive more advanced teachings from the Secret Chiefs by means of contact on the astral plane. Mathers was by this time becoming increasingly friendly with Aleister Crowley, and this together with his burgeoning autocracy caused his expulsion from the Order.

This was followed by the forming of several splinter groups. One group, led by Arthur Edward Waite, retained the title Golden Dawn, but devoted themselves to "Christian mysticism." Those who desired to continue with the study of ceremonial magic, did so under the name of the Stella Matutina (S.M.). This group was headed by Dr. R.W. Felkin, who was also a member of the Theosophical Society.

From the very start of the break with Mathers, Felkin was determined to get back into communication with the Secret Chiefs. To achieve this goal, S.M. members overindulged themselves in astral travel, trances, and automatic writings. As a result, two members became schizophrenic, and one died in a mental hospital.

Felkin then decided to attempt reaching the Chiefs by physical contact. In 1906, he went to Germany, and met 3 important Rosicrucians. They told him that they could not divulge any information because he was not a Mason. Felkin then went to Scotland, and was initiated into Masonry. On his return to Germany, he was able to meet a high initiate, the Luciferian occultist, Rudolph Steiner. Steiner was a veteran of such secret societies as the Freemasons, Rosicrucians, Carbonari, and the Theosophical Society. In 1913, Steiner founded the Anthroposophical Society, one of 700 sects spawned by the Theosophical Society. As head of the Austrian branch of the O.T.O., Steiner was successful in forming a link between the S.M. and the O.T.O.

Felkin returned to England and installed the O.T.O. rituals into the S.M. Although Felkin had not met a Chief, he believed that the knowledge received from Steiner would open stronger astral channels. Apparently they did. Soon after, Mrs. Felkin claimed to have visited an astral temple which was the domain of the Chiefs. While Dr. Felkin, during a light trance, received instructions from an Arab calling himself Ara Ben Shemesh. These instructions resulted in the formation of The Guild of St. Raphael, an Anglican Spiritual Healing Center. To this day, the Guild still has strong ties with Masonry, and also functions as an adjunct to British Intelligence. Miss Stoddard, whom we shall meet shortly, believed this Arab to be the same Arab teacher who personally delivered the rites of Masonry to Albert Pike in 1859, shortly after Pike's becoming head of Universal Freemasonry. What we said earlier about St. Germain, also applies to this Arab (whom Stoddard believed was really a Jewish Cabalist).

Stoddard, who wrote under the name of Inquire Within (her first name was either Carolyn or Christina, depending on who you are reading) did much to expose the activities of the S.M. After becoming Ruling Mother of the S.M., she was instructed to join the Anglican Church, because the other two London Chiefs were Church of England clergymen. In her book "Light-bearers of Darkness," she tells of the attempt to create an etheric link (herself being that link) with the Secret Chiefs. She writes: "Suddenly, without warning, the Lord of Light and his Twelve Brethren attempted to give the Chief this Initiation. This was in a London church...Thursday, April 17, 1919. Easter is a special time for Illuminati black magic...Briefly before the entrance of the officiating clergy, the Chief saw in place of the altar the great Vault of the Inner Order, into which the Twelve Brethren, in black habits with cowls over their heads, were hurriedly entering, and almost at once a dazzling light was focused upon the Chief, and above in this astral fire was the Lord of Light. A sharp pain seized the heart, followed by a curious creeping faintness, and it required all the Chief's determined will to prevent complete trance, but as the clergy entered, gradually the light faded and the faintness passed. Next day the Master announced that the failure had been due to a mistake on the part of one of the brethren, for which he had been duly punished!"

As for Miss Stoddard, she commenced to be plagued by spontaneous trance, visions of light, and by a mysterious stench which entered her dwelling. All of these symptoms, by the way, are experienced by UFO contactees. The contactees also encounter the sinister Men In Black. The reader will note that while in the church, Miss Stoddard confronted "Twelve Brethren in black habits."

ALEISTER CROWLEY

It now remains for us to bring Aleister Crowley into the picture. Crowley (1875-1947) referred to himself as the Beast 666, and was proclaimed by the press of his day as "the wickedest man in the world." He was introduced into the Golden Dawn in 1898. In 1912, he entered the ninth degree of the O.T.O. at the invitation of Theodore Reuss, who had become head of the British branch known as the Mystica Mystica Maxima. By 1922, he was head of the entire O.T.O.

The really important event concerning Crowley took place in Cairo in 1904. At that time he was with his first wife, Rose Edith Kelly. Rose started going into trances and having visions of an Egyptian diety. Rose knew nothing of Egyptian gods; so to help her identify the god, Crowley took her to the museum where she identified the exhibit of Horus with the god of her visions. Crowley looked at the exhibit and saw that Horus was Exhibit #666.

Later in their hotel, Crowley while in a semi-trance, entered into communication with an entity who called himself Aiwaz. Aiwaz explained to Crowley that centuries earlier, he (Aiwaz) had appeared in Sumer to the Prophet Yezid, founder of the Yezidis. The Yezidis are known as the devil worshippers of Mesopotamia. In the 1930's, they were in league with a network of devil worshippers throughout Europe. The Yezidis referred to Aiwaz as Shaitan. The English version of Shaitan is Satan. According to Crowley, Aiwaz (Shaitan or Satan) was the head of the Great White Brotherhood!!!

The symbol of Shaitan, according to the Yezidis, was the peacock. The peacock symbolizes the all-seeing eye, because of the numerous "eyes" visible on its fanned-out tail. To the Yezidis, the astronomical symbol of Shaitan was the dog-star Sirius in the constellation of Orion.

Aiwaz transmitted the Black Book to the Yezidis. Now, he was transmitting to Crowley, a new book for a new age. The new book was to be known as the Book of the Law. This book told of the importance of Mankind's entering into communication with extra-terrestrial intelligence for the purpose of accelerating the process of evolution.

Crowley described Aiwaz as being suspended in a cloud, with veiled eyes, black hands, long pointed nails, and bejewelled fingers. (During the vampire epidemics of the Middle Ages, the vampires were often described as having dark skin and clawlike hands.) Crowley made it plain that Aiwaz could assume other shapes and forms. Whether this was his true form, we know not. After this encounter, Crowley revised the Golden Dawn rituals, and formed a new secret society called the Argenteum Astrum, i.e. the Order of the Silver Star (a title which had formerly been applied to the Third Order of the G.D.). The symbol of the Silver Star was an eleven-pointed star - symbolizing the union of the five-pointed star (Man) with the six-pointed star (the pantheistic god, i.e. the Universe). By the way, the Silver Star is Sirius!!!

SIRIUS SERIOUS

Sirius keeps appearing among subversive sects and occult groups. Benjamin Creme, who is the advance man from the so-called Christ, Lord Maitreya (really the Anti-Christ or an Anti-Christ), has stated that our planetary hierarchy (a reference to the Ascended Masters) is a branch of the Great White Brotherhood on Sirius. The Master D.K. told Alice Bailey, founder of the Lucis Trust (formerly the Lucifer Trust), that the mysteries of Masonry were received from the Great White Lodge on Sirius. Albert Pike said that the Blazing Star which is present in every Masonic Lodge is representative of Sirius.

Sirius is 8.6 light years from Earth (one light year is equal to six trillion miles). In his book, "The Sirius Mystery," Robert K.G. Temple claims that Earth was visited by a race from a planet in the double-star system of Sirius in around 4500 B.C. Temple shows how the ancient Babylonians and Egyptians, along with an African tribe called the Dogon, have knowledge about Sirius – knowledge which has only recently become known to science. The Dogon know that Sirius has an invisible companion – Sirius B – photographed in 1970 for the first time. They also know that it is what is termed a "heavy star." A neighboring tribe called the Bozo also know about Sirius, and call it Tono Nalema, i.e. the Eye Star (a reference to the all-seeing eye). Temple concludes that such knowledge could only have resulted from direct contact.

To the Egyptians, Isis was a symbol of Sirius; while Osiris was a symbol of Sirius B, the dark companion. The Egyptians celebrated the annual return of Sirius by engaging in perverted rites – rites which included bestiality. Some say that the Sphinx is a symbol of such rites.

While Isis was a symbol of Sirius, a throne or seat was a symbol of Isis. In Montana on April 14, 1976, at a cattle mutilation site, investigators found a stone slab bearing a strange inscription. The inscription stated: "ISIS! FAVOR US! MOTHER OF MOON, LOVER OF GOODNESS." Beneath the inscription was a drawing of a throne. The night before, black-robed figures were spotted in the area. An area psychic claimed to be in contact with UFO aliens, who said that they were the perpetrators. Cattle mutilations have been going on for a number of years in the U.S. and elsewhere. They have variously been attributed to Satanic cults, government agencies, or to UFO activity.

As many readers know, the Masons and the Jews often talk about rebuilding the Temple of Solomon. To do so they would have to destroy the Islamic Dome of the Rock Mosque which sits on the ancient Temple site. The Jewish Defence League along with a supposedly evangelical religious group called the Temple Mount Foundation, are planning to do just that. They are being backed by the Masonic Research Lodge known as Quatuor Coronati which we mentioned earlier. As of this writing (May 1983), there has been at least one incident aimed at destroying the Mosque. There is great determination to rebuild Solomon's Temple – even at the risk of precipitating a religious war.

But, just what do they really mean when they speak of rebuilding Solomon's Temple. Strangely enough, the reference is not to King Solomon. The reference is to SOL-OM-ON, SOL is the Latin word for sun. OM is the Sanskrit (ancient language of India) word for sun. ON is the Egyptian word for sun. However, it is an occult tradition that our sun is but a reflection of a greater sun – and that greater sun is Sirius. The Temple of SOL-OM-ON is the temple of Sirius. Our sun is referred to as the child Horus; Sirius and Sirius B representing Isis and Osiris.

THE SIRIUS-SHAMBHALA CONNECTION

According to George Hunt Williamson (one of the early saucer contactees) in his book "Other Tongues, Other Flesh," Sirius has been in contact with Earth for thousands of years. He says that the Earth allies of Sirius, i.e. the secret societies, use the Eye of Horus as an insignia. This is the origin of the all-seeing eye (the eye in the triangle on the reverse side of the dollar bill). This symbol has also been seen on the Men In Black – those sinister harbingers of evil and dread who harass UFO witnesses.

To the reader who is not familiar with the Men in Black (MIB), let us briefly state that the MIB usually appear to individuals after a UFO sighting, and tell the witnesses to keep quiet about what they have seen. They dress completely in black, and drive around in black Cadillacs. Nobody knows who they are or where they come from. It has been conjectured that they are Air Force Officers, CIA agents, or even aliens.

According to John Keel (America's top UFOologist), the MIB often state that they are representatives of "the Nation of the Third Eye." Based on some of the info we have already presented, let us see if we can locate "the Nation of the Third Eye." The occultists and the secret societies believe that there is a Great White Lodge on Earth. They call it Shambhala – and consider it to be the spiritual center of the world.

Now, if the Great White Lodge is on Sirius as Benjamin Creme and Alice Bailey have said – and if the all-seeing eye is a symbol of Sirius's Earth allies – and if the MIB wear that symbol – and if Shambhala represents the Great White Lodge on Earth – then the MIB are emissaries of Shambhala!!! Sirius and Shambhala are two sides of the same coin. This is verified in the book "The Undiscovered Country" by Stephen Jenkins. Jenkins was told by Buddhist priests that Shambhala was located in the constellation of Orion!!!

Where is the entrance to Shambhala on Earth? It is usually placed in the trans-Himalayan region. Some assert that it is in the heart of the Gobi Desert. According to the explorer Nicholas Roerich, there are caves in the Himalayan foothills that have subterranean passages. In one of these passages, there is a stone door that has never been opened, because the time for its opening has not yet arrived. Is Shambhala behind this door?

In 1930, Doreal founded the Brotherhood of the White Temple. Doreal says that the entrance to Shambhala is far underground. He goes on to say that space bends around Shambhala, and that there is a warp which leads in to another universe. It is our guess that the stone door spoken of by Roerich is the physical entrance to the extra-dimensional portal spoken of by Doreal. Shambhala is in another universe!!!

In his book "Outside the Circles of Time," Kenneth Grant gives us another lead to follow. Grant says that Sirius is a symbol of extra-cosmic forces. He goes on to say that Sirius is a window to Universe B. In other words, Sirius is a doorway into another universe. Sirius is not the point of origin of the alien entities we are concerned with – it is their point of entry. It is the Gateway through which they first gained access to our Universe, perhaps untold millions of years ago. These aliens are the hideous entities who comprise the Great White Brotherhood – the cosmic masters of the MIB. It was through the Sirius portal that they first entered our Universe. And it is through the Shambhala portal that they can return to their own dimension. This is the reason that the priests told Stephen Jenkins that Shambhala was located in the Orion Constellation. And this is the reason that Mrs. Roerich referred to Shambhala as “the city of the Starborn.”

Before concluding this first issue, there is one more comment we must make concerning the MIB. John Keel says that they are most often (not always) described as having dark skin and Oriental eyes. Such features are characteristic of the inhabitants of the trans-Himalayan region – the area in the closest proximity to the portal that leads to Shambala. Are the MIB recruited from among these people?

The MIB fall into the same category as St. Germain, Koot Hoomi, Lord Morya, the Arab, and the Amerindian Black Eagle. They are emissaries of the Great White Brotherhood. They are human beings who now exist in another dimension. They have successfully crossed the Abyss and acquired the knowledge to gain corporeal entry into another universe – a universe beyond Space-Time as we know it.

The Conspiracy Tracker is a trial publication. If successful, there will be more. It will be dedicated to a study of secret societies, cults, the occult – and the role they play and have played in world affairs. It will be both fact and speculation. All comments and criticisms are welcome (well, comments anyway). Permission granted to reproduce, as long as full credit is given.
